constructed on the Ballarat-Geelong and Melbourne to Bendigo lines. It would appear to have been constructed in 1862 to its present size, as indicated in the contract sum, when compared with the single carriage shed and by the early photograph of the Station. This building is a long double gabled shed with arched rail entrances at the east end, and with segmental arched side goods doors. There are now a number of modern awnings over the doors. The building is substantially intact, apart from the awnings and later roofing. This building is of importance because of its scale, construction materials and workmanship, and its relationship to the other buildings of this important railway terminal complex.

RECOMMENDATIONS

It is recommended that this building be referred to the Government Buildings Advisory Council, be added to the Register of the National Estate, and be specified under Clause 8 of the Town and Country Planning Act (Third Schedule).
