

REHILLA
182 Lennox Street

History and Description

A twin bayed villa with a porch-in-antis. The unusual feature of the design is the use of finely executed Edwardian details (rough cast render, art nouveau lettering, and terracotta faience) on a building that is otherwise late Victorian in style.

It remains intact except for the fence.

Statement of Significance

A beautifully detailed example of a transitional late Victorian/Edwardian villa.