	Description of Site: ronted, hipped corrugated iron roof	weatherboar	d house with	an ornate timber

A single fronted, hipped corrugated iron roof, weatherboard house with an ornate timber panel central front door which has side and top lights. The verandah has turned timber posts and some simple decoration. It is partly blocked in at the ends and has lattice balustrade. There are three very ornate brown brick chimneys. Two symmetrical and internal, seen from the north elevation and one external at the rear (south). There are corrugated iron window hoods on the west elevation and an orchard at the back of the house. The significant architectural features are the original roof form, the original doors, windows, hoods and chimneys and the intact verandah decoration and structure.
