WONGA PARK HALL AND RESERVE

	Wonga Park
DESCRIPTION	Wonga Park Hall is a timber framed building, reclad in brown brick. The main front has a triple gable with lattice details which remains from the 1926 extensions to the earlier hall. The window and roof have been replaced, and the porch removed.
	The hall is set with the Reserve, the centre of community life in Wonga Park, and a place retaining remnants of the original local vegetation. Large pines near the hall are a characteristic, cultural planting.
	It is one of three former Mechanics' Institutes in the district: Doncaster Athenaeum Hall (1872), Templestowe (1883, later Templestowe Memorial Hall 1922) and Warrandyte Mechanics' Institute (1927), as well as other local halls that served as community meeting places (East Doncaster Hall (1932), former Shire Offices (1892), South Warrandyte Hall (rebuilt 1939).[2]
