HO 214

History

1854-80

Crown Portion 23, consisting of 11 acres 3 roods 35 perches, with a frontage to present day High Street, was sold to Alfred Sikes for £490.14.5 on 25 April 1854. Sikes sold the allotment the following year to Jacob Quiney for £957.10.0. Quiney then sold the land to Thomas Alston who brought it under the Transfer of Land Act in 1880. 1881

In 1881, Mercer Road was created with the subdivision of the Mercer Estate.³ Surveyor Thomas Muntz subdivided Crown Portions 23 and 4 into forty-eight building allotments with frontages to Mercer Road, Malvern Road and High Street.⁴ The sale by Fraser & Co. invited 'speculators, investors, merchants, builders and others' to purchase half-acre allotments in the Mercer Estate.

The situation is without doubt the grandest in or around Toorak and Malvern, being the highest position in the neighbourhood, and enjoying views not only of Melbourne and the Bay, but also of the Dandenong Ranges, the You Yangs, Heidelberg Valley etc.

In 1888-9 warehouseman and manager William George Walker purchased land on the west side of Mercer Road and immediately built a brick house of 9 rooms.⁵ The house was later numbered 13 Mercer Road. In 1892 John H. Kitchen occupied Walker's house.⁶ John Hambleton Kitchen, the son of Ambrose Kitchen, was the Managing Director of the Sydney Soap Co., later Kitchen & Sons, the forerunner of Lever and Kitchen Pty. Ltd. It was in 1892, the year Kitchen occupied Walker's house, that his father Ambrose Kitchen relinquished his large house in Kew and the family members resigned temporarliy from the Company's board due to financial problems.⁷

From 1893 Sharebroker George Woodford(e) occupied Walker's house before purchasing the property. By 1898 manufacturer, Julius Amschell owned 13 Mercer Road. Amschell and engineer Walter Schmidt, then Schmidt, occupied the property until it was purchased by solicitor Lawrence Cadby in 1930. During this time, the house was named 'Moorak'. Mercer Road was sold to Rocke a solicitor, in 1934 and in 1951 the property was purchased by Mrs Trenchard.

Description

A single storey Italianate villa, the building is distinguished by the side entry which consists of a low balustraded masonry tower with arched openings. This entry tower has an unpainted cement finish.

There is a return verandah facing the street, which extends around the projecting bay. The building has a slate hipped roof and a timber verandah with a tiled floor. There is a projecting bay window to the west of the entry tower with fenestration of an early date.

Integrity

The main entry area, and roof structure remains intact. There have been extensive alterations to the fenestration of the projecting bay of the front elevation, with modern enlarged windows. In addition, the building lacks its verandah decoration.

Analysis

The entrance tower is an unusual feature for such Italianate single storey villas, and has retained its original render finish. The building form with projecting bays provides a further aggrandisement of the basic Italianate villa required during the Boom in this area. The house represents the affluent and turbulent settlement of these boom era estates in this part of Armadale. The occupancy by John H. Kitchen of the famous soap company demonstrates this, as does his short occupancy due to financial pressures.

Significance

13 Mercer Road is of regional significance as a distinctive Italianate villa with a small square entry tower of an unusual configuration and location. Significant attributes are:

- side entry masonry tower with arched openings with unpainted cement finish
- · return verandah extending around projecting bay
- slate hipped roof
- timber verandah with a tiled floor.

Criteria

The building meets the criteria for local significance as required by state government guidelines. This is defined by the Local Government Heritage Guidelines, Department of Planning and Housing, 1991, (p6)

Places of local significance are of particular importance to a local community, or part of a community, which is usually defined by a local government area (this was pre amalgamation). The majority of places which are determined to be of cultural value will be of local significance. Relatively fewer places will be determined to be of state or national significance.

The normal means of management for places of local significance is inclusion ... in the local planning scheme.

More recently, the Practice Notes to the Victorian Planning Provisions included Applying the Heritage Overlay, Department of Infrastructure, February 1999, confirm the 1991 criteria and also recommend the use of the AHC criteria.

Under the Australian Heritage Commission's eight broad criteria, a place may possess significance or other special value for future generations as well as the present community.

This property has been considered to meet the following AHC criteria:

Criterion D: its importance in demonstrating the principal characteristics of:

- i) a class of Australia's natural or cultural places; or
- ii) a class of Australia's natural or cultural environments

Demonstrates the elaborate Italianate villa of the Boom era

Criterion E:

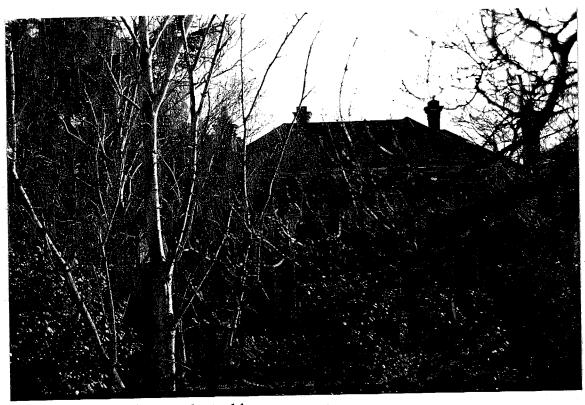

its importance in exhibiting particular aesthetic characteristics valued by a community or cultural group

The entrance tower and building and verandah forms have obvious aesthetic values
